GENERAL INFORMATION ON THE AREA

INTRODUCTION

For those who imagine a Greece of sun-baked rocks dotted with dazzling white houses, the Ionian represents a sweet surprise. This is not the Greece you see in popular travel brochures, but a green, shady countryside with red-roofed Latin houses, an eccentric blend of Italian and French architecture and English tastes welded together into a whole that is undeniably Greek.

Evergreen cypresses, pines, elms, green fields, flowering even in midsummer, and everywhere the dull, dark sheen of the olive tree, characterize the low lands, while higher up the slopes are covered with pines and the tenacious Mediterranean scrub. If the wind is in the right direction, one can smell the pungent aroma of grass as far as a mile from the sea.

WEATHER

WIND

Winds are constant in summer. From June to late September the normal wind in the northern Ionian is NW to WNW. It generally arrives around noon, blows between Force 2 and 5, and dies at sunset. There may be a light E or SE wind in the morning, but it rarely reaches Force 1-2. In July and August a wind known as Mistral can blow from the N-NW with a strength slightly higher than the normal NW wind.

THUNDERSTORMS

These occur most frequently in spring and autumn and are often accompanied by gales. Remember that the wind direction during a gale often changes 180°.

VHF FORECAST

Weather information is provided at: 06:00, 10:00, 16:00, 22:00 UTC.

After the call on VHF channel 16: "All Ships, All Ships, All Ships," a channel list is provided for each local area directing to the nearest coastal weather information center. Most broadcasts are in English, followed by Greek.

SKIPPER'S DAILY PROGRAM

PRE-DEPARTURE

07:30 wake-up > check mooring/anchoring (hatch/anchor/lines/fenders), boat check (W.O.B.B.L.E.) and check battery charge status;

08:30 breakfast > update crew on weather, navigation, and daily plans

09:30 navigation preparation > turn on VHF, GPS, electronics, last forecast and route check, record in logbook engine hours, check hatches, sea cocks, toilet, doors, gas, secure dinghy, outboard motor and ensure boat safety (close portholes/rails). Activity times may vary depending on the day (see day-by-day program below):

NAVIGATION

10:00 departure > form safety pairs

10:00 - 13:00 > navigation, check proper sail trim (one step down), check crew safety (wear shoes, no knives/glassware around, no lying down leeward, no standing at the bow with waves, no standing on the bridge, etc.)

LANDING

13:00 - 13:30 > time may vary depending on the day (see day-by-day program below), mooring/anchoring, check mooring/anchoring security. Meanwhile, the crew can prepare lunch.

LUNCH TIME

13:30 - 15:00 > lunch and boat tidy up (so it is always ready to depart if necessary)

ON-SHORE ACTIVITIES / IN THE BAY

15:00 - 18:00 > book any evening or following day activities (e.g. happy hours, dinners, after-dinner, ports), check mooring/anchoring before sunset with snorkel and mask

SKIPPER'S MEETING

18:00 - 19:00 > staff meeting, check status of boats and crews, forecast for the following days and next day's schedule

HAPPY HOUR, DINNER AND EVENING ACTIVITIES

19:00 - 24:00 > check hull (batteries, tank levels, bilges), update crew on any changes emerged in the Skipper's Meeting, manage dinner, manage tender.

THE SKIPPER'S ROLE

Being a skipper is a unique and extraordinary experience that offers the opportunity to discover the world from the sea. Sailing on the open sea, admiring the coastal landscape and the endless horizon, feeling the sea breeze and the sound of the waves, is an experience that fills your heart with peace and serenity. However, it also comes with enormous responsibilities: you are in charge of managing and ensuring the safety of the boat, and you are also responsible for all your crew.

It is important to remember that for most of the crew this is probably their first boating experience, so what you skippers take for granted is most likely not for them.

The skipper is responsible for the boat at all times.

If there is an inexperienced crew on board, anchoring and mooring will be more difficult, especially in adverse weather conditions. It is best to get help from the crew, first explaining the maneuver and what exactly they need to do.

The crew should always have a way to contact the skipper in case of need. Therefore, it is appropriate to have the phone numbers of all crew members and for everyone to have the skipper's number.

The skipper must always behave professionally with the crew and any other person involved in the event.

This means that the skipper should never be blatantly drunk or under the influence of other drugs, or behave rudely, such as not helping colleagues or crew when necessary.

- You are responsible for the safety and well-being of your crew.
- You must follow local laws and regulations.
- You must never leave anyone from your crew and/or fleet behind.
- You must always assist other skippers.
- If you must leave your boat for an extended period, you must tell your crew where you are going and how they can contact you.
- You must set a good example to all clients, who will see in you a role model!

NOTES

Leaving Roda early in the morning, the best chances of finding a place in Gaios are from 09:30 to 11:00. Enter the channel from the northern side only. There are 4 points where you can anchor (see below), put the anchor in the middle of the channel and then secure the stern lines on the pontoon. DO NOT leave the gangway down and put lots of fenders on the stern of the boat. Put spring lines from your center boat cleat to the bow cleats of the other boats, so that if the anchor drags you will not hit the pontoon because you are attached to the other boats. You can buy water and electricity cards from "Super Market Giorgos Coop"

WHAT TO DO

- Visit Loggos (fisherman town);
- Blue Caves;
- Galazio Beach;
- Erimitis Beach;
