GENERAL INFORMATION ON THE AREA

INTRODUCTION

The Cyclades islands are the most famous group of Greek islands in the Aegean Sea. The name "Cyclades" comes from the Greek word cyclos, meaning "circle," as the islands form a circle around the sacred island of Delos, one of the most important religious centers of antiquity.

The natural landscape of the Cyclades is arid and wild. The beaches have crystal clear waters and are covered with sand or pebbles. Geographically, the islands of the Cyclades are considered the apex of a submerged mountainous territory, with the exception of two volcanic islands, Santorini and Milos.

WEATHER

The prevailing wind in summer is the infamous Meltemi that blows from the NE-N-NW. Meltemi starts blowing erratically in June, blows stronger in July, August and September and dies down in October. In July and August, Meltemi blows at force 5-6 and can sometimes reach force 7-8. It may blow for 1-3 days or for a couple of days. It can blow for 1-3 days or sometimes for 2 weeks at a time. There is no way to know how long it will blow for. It has a thermal component in that it loses strength during the night and increases again during the day.

In June and late September the wind strength is considerably lower, around Force 4-5, and there can be wind from other directions. The direction of the Meltemi varies along the Cyclades. In the northern Cyclades it blows from the NE, curving N in the central Cyclades and curving NW-WNW again in the southern Cyclades. In the western islands of the Cyclades the wind is marginally less strong than in the northern and eastern islands.

In spring and fall the wind comes mainly from the N, although there is no shortage of winds from the S. Gales generally come from the N or SE.

THUNDERSTORMS

These occur most frequently in spring and autumn and are often accompanied by gales.

Remember that the wind direction during a gale often changes 180°.

VHF FORECAST

Weather information is provided at: 06:00, 10:00, 16:00, 22:00 UTC.

After the call on VHF channel 16: "All Ships, All Ships," a channel list is provided for each local area directing to the nearest coastal weather information center. Most broadcasts are in English, followed by Greek.

A SKIPPER'S DAILY PROGRAM

PRE-DEPARTURE

07:30 wake-up > check mooring/anchoring (hatch/anchor/lines/fenders), boat check (W.O.B.B.L.E.) and check battery charge status;
08:30 breakfast > update crew on weather, navigation, and daily plans
09:30 navigation preparation > turn on VHF, GPS, electronics, last forecast and route check, record in logbook engine hours, check hatches, sea cocks, toilet, doors, gas, secure dinghy, outboard motor and ensure boat safety (close portholes/rails)

Activity times may vary depending on the day (see day-by-day program below):

NAVIGATION

10:00 departure > form safety pairs
10:00 - 13:00 > navigation, check proper sail trim (one step down), check crew safety (wear shoes, no knives/glassware around, no lying down leeward, no standing at the bow with waves, no standing on the bridge, etc.)

LANDING

13:00 - 13:30 > time may vary depending on the day (see day-by-day program below), mooring/anchoring, check mooring/anchoring security. Meanwhile, the crew can prepare lunch.

LUNCH TIME

13:30 - 15:00 > lunch and boat tidy up (so it is always ready to depart if necessary)

ON-SHORE ACTIVITIES / IN THE BAY

15:00 - 18:00 > book any evening or following day activities (e.g. happy hours, dinners, after-dinner, ports), check mooring/anchoring before sunset with snorkel and mask

SKIPPER'S MEETING

18:00 - 19:00 > staff meeting, check status of boats and crews, forecast for the following days and next day's schedule

HAPPY HOUR, DINNER AND EVENING ACTIVITIES

19:00 - 24:00 > check hull (batteries, tank levels, bilges), update crew on any changes emerged in the Skipper's Meeting, manage dinner, manage tender.

THE ROLE OF A SKIPPER

Being a skipper is a unique and extraordinary experience that offers the opportunity to discover the world from the sea. Sailing on the open sea, admiring the coastal landscape and the endless horizon, feeling the sea breeze and the sound of the waves, is an experience that fills your heart with peace and serenity. However, it also comes with enormous responsibilities: you are in charge of managing and ensuring the safety of the boat, and you are also responsible for all your crew.

It is important to remember that for most of the crew this is probably their first boating experience, so what you skippers take for granted is most likely not for them.

The skipper is responsible for the boat at all times.

If there is an inexperienced crew on board, anchoring and mooring will be more difficult, especially in adverse weather conditions. It is best to get help from the crew, first explaining the maneuver and what exactly they need to do.

The crew should always have a way to contact the skipper in case of need. Therefore, it is appropriate to have the phone numbers of all crew members and for everyone to have the skipper's number.

The skipper must always behave professionally with the crew and any other person involved in the event. This means that the skipper should never be blatantly drunk or under the influence of other drugs, or behave rudely, such as not helping colleagues or crew when necessary.

- You are responsible for the safety and well-being of your crew.
- You must follow local laws and regulations.
- You must never leave anyone from your crew and/or fleet behind.
- You must always assist other skippers.
- If you must leave your boat for an extended period, you must tell your crew where you are going and how they can contact you.
- You must set a good example to all clients, who will see in you a role model!

SCHEDULE

08:00-13:00: Navigation to Ormos Livadhi

13:00-14:00: Lunch

19:00-00:00: Night in the city

NOTES

Anchor in 3-4 meters of water, very close to the beach on the north side of the bay.

You will need a good anchor and all your chain, as well as some courage when the Meltemi hits the bay. The bottom is sand and seaweed and is not everywhere the best hold.

Once docked, to disembark people, drive the dinghy only upwind of the boats so that in the unfortunate event of engine failure, the dinghy slowly drifts over the bow of the boats and not out to sea. So land people on the beach and not on the west side pier.

Once you reach the beach, pull your dinghy up 3-4 meters because the gusts could easily carry it away.

Night in town.

Mooring on the inner part of the north dock. Arrive around 10:30-11:00 in the morning when the boats from the previous night are leaving, drop anchor in the center of the channel and pay close attention not to end up on the taut chains of other boats already moored.

If instead, you're lucky enough to moor in the front row, stay far enough away from the dock as there is a lot of waves created inside the harbor due to the constant passage of ferries and taxi boats.

Do not leave the boat until the boats around you have moored, as you will need to help them to avoid damaging your boat.
